Lack of raises angers Madison police force

Angered by the Madison City Council's approval of the 1983-84 budget with no raises reflected for the police department personnel, at least four policemen called in sick Tuesday, apparent victims of the "blue flu."

This is the fourth consecutive year that police, in addition to all city employees, have not received a raise. The police were given an eight-percent raise in 1979, which was their last wage increase.

"I don't know anything about 'blue flu,'" Police Chief Donald Bridick said Tuesday night. "All I know is there's a few (patrolmen) who have called in sick," Bridick added. "The city's adequately protected."

There are only 11 police in the department when at full strength, including Chief Bridick.

When asked how he was going to handle the situation, Chief Bridick said, "It's going to be handled like ordinary sick days. When they return to work, they'll need a slip from a doctor." He added, "That's required by ordinance."

A short time later at a special meeting of the city council, called to approve the 1983-84 budget, alderman approved a motion to retain Dr. Muhammad Jamil, who maintains an office in Madison, as the city physician on a temporary basis.

After a brief executive session dealing with personnel, the councilmen gave unanimous approval to a motion authorizing Chief Bridick to order the policemen not working, as of the meeting time, to go to the city doctor for a complete physical examination before returning to duty. The city will pay for the examinations.

"If the city is so financially strapped it can't afford raises for the police department, then why don't they (the aldermen) suspend further expenditures for the cable alarm system?" Madison Patrolman William Weidner, president of Police Benevolent and Protective Association Unit 110, said Wednesday.

"There's not a policeman against public works projects like the alarm system, but year after year, it's at our (the city employees') expense."

Weidner said that he and other officers who had called in sick Tuesday were reporting for duty Wednesday and it appeared this morning that regular operations in the department had resumed.

"Last year, Mayor Sasyk said to show him ways to save money," Weidner said, "so we asked that a new insurance policy for city employees be investigated. Bids on a new policy from another company were eventually accepted by the council which saved almost $30,000 for the city in annual premiums."

This new insurance policy goes into effect Aug. 1 of this year.

"Also, why don't the aldermen give back their per diem pay for attending council meetings and their expense allowances to help offset the city deficit?" Weidner said.

A protest was staged outside the Madison City Hall Tuesday night during the special council session by wives and family members of the policemen. Members of Madison Concerned Citizens augmented the ranks of protesters.

Several of the posters being carried by the protesters said there is money for the cable system, but not for the police. City officials say that the alarm system cost will be around $170,000 and not the $600,000 being rumored. Officials previously said that the alarm system will pay for itself within five years.

PROTEST IN MADISON. Wives and family members of Madison policemen and members of the Madison Concerned Citizens show their support Tuesday night for the police who have not received a pay raise for the fourth consecutive year. The protest was staged outside the Madison City Hall while the city council passed the 1983-84 budget with no additional funds for police department wages. Four policemen called in sick starting at 3 p.m. Tuesday, apparent victims of the "blue flu," but all officers reported for regular duty at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Judge clears Henkhaus by dismissing contempt motion

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The latest battle between four local township collectors and the Madison County Treasurer's office appears to be resolved—again.

Associate Judge Edward Ferguson Tuesday dismissed a petition seeking a contempt citation against treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus following a hearing at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

The petition was filed by tax collectors from Nameoki, Granite City, Venice and Edwardsville townships, who claimed that Henkhaus violated a 1982 court order from Judge Ferguson that established procedures for tax collection.

The tax collectors argued that Henkhaus had tried to confuse taxpayers about where they were to pay their first installments. They also contended that he did not follow the guidelines set in the previous court order. Ferguson ruled last year that Henkhaus was not to collect tax payments for those townships prior to Sept. 1.

Judge Ferguson ruled Tuesday, however, that Henkhaus did not violate state law concerning tax collection. In making his judgment, Judge Ferguson said that the court order applied only to 1981 tax bills, collected in the summer of 1982, therefore, Henkhaus did not violate the ruling this year.

The previous order said that Henkhaus had to provide information telling taxpayers to whom and where to pay their installments prior to Sept. 1.

Approve grant to expand port

The Tri-City Regional Port District is beginning a $1,790,000 construction project with grant assistance from the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce. EDA recently announced a $895,000 (50 percent) grant to the port district to assist in the construction of a two-part project.

The first component consists of an expansion and addition to the port's dry bulk products' handling system by construction of a truck grain to barge transfer facility. The second component includes the expansion and improvement of rail and roadway facilities at the port's general cargo dock.

"These improvements will increase the capacity and efficiency of handling materials through the port and enhance the competitive position of firms who utilize the port's modern bulk product and general cargo transfer facilities to move their products to national and international markets," said Carl Ranft, port general manager.

The Tri-City Port submitted the application for funding assistance to EDA on Feb. 7. The action was motivated by the port district board's pursuit of its job-creating and income-generating objectives for the territory of the district. "Without the help and cooperation of our area's federal and state legislators, the Port District believes the project

Top priority to Kube case

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The "reopening" of the Kube murder case in Granite City is a top priority for Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, who says he is optimistic that the mysteries surrounding the double strangulation can be solved.

Richard Kube, 79, and his wife Anna, 83, were bound and strangled by one or more assailants in the basement of their Granite City home in March of 1978.

Weber said Tuesday that he was concerned after an article about his decision to reopen the case appeared in the July 21 Press-Record.

The state's attorney said he wanted to make it clear that he believes the Granite City Police Department has done an exemplary job in conducting the investigation. It's not, he said, that his office is taking over the case, but rather, that he wants to see a cooperative effort between his staff and Granite City detectives.

"The Granite City detective section, as far as I'm concerned, ranks on par with any in Southern Illinois. They're very good, they did a great job. There just wasn't anything there," Weber said.

"It's not like I'm reopening the case. I'm just asking the police department if they want to take another look at it," he added.

Award paving job

The Illinois Department of Transportation announced Monday that it has awarded a contract to Reese Construction Co. of Cahokia to resurface Madison Avenue from Second Street in Madison to 20th Street in Granite City.

The $292,500 contract is for 1.61 miles of resurfacing. Construction is expected to begin in the near future.

The work has been bid three times previously and was rejected each time because the bids received were considered too high. In the first round of bidding in January, Reese was the low bidder at $315,128. The engineer's estimate at that time was $270,000. Subsequent bids were received Feb. 9 and April 28, but were again rejected.

The contract was one awarded from 110 projects for which bids were accepted by IDOT June 28. Contracts total $28.8 million.

Other area projects for which bids were awarded include installing pipe culvert and flap gates at Route 203 and Interstate 55-70 near the north limits of East St. Louis, and at the intersection of Route 157 and St. Clair Avenue in East St. Louis. Pensonea Excavating Co. Inc., of Belleville was awarded the $12.210 contract.

FINAL TRACE REMOVED. The only remaining indication of the former Granite City High School North campus, the huge sign visible from Route 203 and Maryville Road, is taken down Tuesday morning. The word "north" will be replaced with "center," the name of the Granite City extension campus of Belleville College.

Dedication of the new, two-year college is scheduled for Aug. 11. Harold Moore, of Signmaster in Collinsville, descends the ladder carrying the "O" of North. The word "city" was taken down, but will be replaced when the word "center" is added.

Grants for SIUE programs

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was included in two Higher Education Cooperation Act grants for projects at colleges and universities in Illinois, approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education this month. The approvals are contingent on appropriation approvals by Gov. James Thompson.

The grants, totaling $130,000 would provide funding for the following projects:

- Strategies for Improving the Status of Blacks in Postsecondary Education, proposed by Illinois State University in cooperation with 11 other institutions, $35,000; and
- Faculty Research Assistance to the State, providing a statewide on-line computerized file of faculty research capabilities and scholarly interests, proposed by the University of Illinois in cooperation with five public universities, $95,000.

In other action concerning SIUE, the Board of Higher Education released a notice of the university's intent to offer medical-surgical specialization of its accredited master of science in nursing program in the John A. Logan Community College District, which is headquartered at Carleville. SIUE's baccalaureate completion program in the John A. Logan and Rend Lake Community College Districts graduates a total of approximately 25 registered nurses per year.

The university anticipates enrolling 20 part-time students per year in the MS program. Requests for a copy of the synopsis describing the program or requests to schedule a conference concerning the proposal should be directed to Howard Webb, system academic officer, Office of the Chancellor, SIUE, Carbondale.

SCULPTURE INSTALLED. Barry Tinsley of Chicago, commissioned by the Illinois Capital Development Board to create an art work for the entrance plaza of the Multipurpose Building at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and an associate complete the installation in front of the new building, scheduled to open, this fall. Titled "Southern Moraine," the art work is made of three-sixteen-inch carbon steel plate, specifically formulated to rust naturally to a certain thickness, becoming a permanent decorative sculpture. The work is 58 feet long, 24 feet wide and 17 feet high. Formal dedication ceremonies are planned Oct. 2.

Bid opening Wednesday on 22 area projects

Bids will be received from contractors for a state record of 280 separate projects valued at $135 million. This letting has been made possible by new sources of revenue, both on federal and state levels. The large size of the letting is an effort to get needed projects underway as soon as possible so that work will be virtually completed, in most cases, before the end of this construction season.

The bids include some Quad-City area improvements, including: 48 of a mile of resurfacing on Klein Street between Broadway and Bissell Street in Venice; 2.34 miles of resurfacing on Route 111 between Pontoon Road and Chain of Rocks Road northeast of Granite City; 78 of a mile of resurfacing and base course on Route 203 (Nameoki Road) between the Alton & Edwardsville Road and Alexander Street, and .34 of a mile of resurfacing on Chain of Rocks Road between Granite City and Cedar Park in Mitchell.

Other Madison County projects include: repairs to the deck on the bridge carrying Route 3 over Cahokia Diversion Canal at south edge of Hartford; modernization of traffic signals on Route 111-140, at the intersection with Stanley Road in Alton; 5.13 miles of intermittent resurfacing on Fosterberg Road from Route 111 and 140 north to Godfrey-Fosterberg Road in Fosterberg; 1.3 miles of resurfacing on Route 11 (Center Street) between U.S. Route 40 and Dewey Street in Troy; and .48 of a mile of resurfacing on Duncan Street from Route 143 to near the south limits of Marine.

Also .79 of a mile of resurfacing on Main Street between U.S. Route 40 and Route 162 in Troy; .79 of a mile of resurfacing on Route 160 from Main Street in Highland to U.S. Route 40; a grade separation structure, with abutments, carrying traffic over College Avenue in Alton, including left turn lanes on College Avenue, and reclamation of the Mount Olive and Livingston number one mine, including an abandoned underground coal mine site near Livingston.

Interstate 255-related projects include: 2.67 miles of concrete pavement on I-255 from relocated Davis Avenue to Route 15 in northeast of Cahokia; nine-tenths of a mile of concrete surface on Route 163 between Bond Avenue and I-255 in Centerville; 1.65 miles of concrete pavement on a pregraded roadbed on I-255 between Route 3 and the St. Clair-Monroe County line near the east edge of Dupuy; keyway repair; 3.78 miles of landscaping on I-255 from Route 163 to Runkum Road in Alton and East St. Louis.

Other St. Clair County projects include: Rehabilitation of the overpass carrying Route 111 over the Conrail and B&O Railroad yards in Washington Park; water-proofing and resurfacing the bridge deck on Route 177 over Loop Creek two miles west of Mascoutah; construction of two pipe culverts on Route 157 near St. Christopher Drive in Cahokia; and 3.32 miles of base course and resurfacing on Route 159 from raintown Road to north of the Madison-Macoupin County line, south of Bunker Hill.

Also 1.21 miles of resurfacing on Route 159 from Main Street south of Hecker; 3.6 miles of resurfacing on Route 4 from U.S. Route 50 in Lebanon to the Madison-St. Clair County line, and reclamation of the Little Oak Mine site two and one-half miles northeast of Belleville.

Employment rise in early summer

Employment rose sharply in June and the unemployment rate continued to edge down, the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor said this week in analyzing early summer trends.

The overall unemployment rate, which includes the resident armed forces in the labor force base, was 9.8 percent; the rate for civilian workers was 10 percent. Each of these measures has declined steadily from last December's recession highs of 10.7 and 10.8 percent, respectively.

Workers increased to 102,500 in June after showing modest growth since the beginning of the year.

The number of unemployed persons, 11.1 million, was little changed in June after adjustment for the summer entrance of school-age youths into the labor market and other seasonal movement. A decline in the number of workers who had lost their jobs was partially countered by an increase in the number of new entrants to the labor force.

Despite the lack of movement in total jobs in June, the level has declined by 890,000 since its December 1982 peak.

Among the major labor force groups, there was a substantial over-the-month decline in the jobless rate for adult men; their rate dropped 0.6 percentage point to 9.0 percent, its lowest level since August 1982.

Jobless rates for adult women (8.6 percent) and teenagers (23.6 percent) were little changed over the month. The unemployment rate for white workers continued to decline, while the rate for blacks was unchanged at 20.6 percent and has shown no improvement in the first half of the year. The rate for black teenagers remained at about 50 percent.

Jobless rates declined over the month for workers in mining, construction, and durable goods manufacturing, industries in which men comprise the bulk of the work force. Unemployment also declined among full-time workers but rose among part-time workers.

The average (mean) duration of unemployment continued to rise in June, reaching 22 weeks. The number of persons jobless for 27 weeks or more increased by 165,000 to nearly 3 million and comprised 26 percent of the jobless total.

In addition to the downturn in unemployment, there has also been a continued reduction in the number of persons working part time on nonfarm jobs because of reduced hours or the unavailability of full-time jobs. The number of these persons working "part time for economic reasons," 5.1 million in June, was down 200,000 from May and 700,000 from last December.

The civilian labor force typically swells in June, as large numbers of youth enter the labor force and either find jobs or continue to search for work. This June, the labor force increased by 3.1 million, substantially more than expected, based on patterns which have occurred in recent years and earlier.

Civilian employment increased by 1.2 million in June, seasonally adjusted, to 100.8 million. Adult men accounted for half of this increase, and adult women and teenagers shared equally in the balance.

At 1.7 million, the number of discouraged workers — persons who report that they want to work but are not looking for jobs because they believe they cannot find any — was about unchanged from the first to the second quarter of 1983 but down 140,000 from the fourth-quarter 1982 high.

Non-agricultural payroll employment increased by 345,000 in June to 89.8 million. This marked the third straight month of sharp employment gains, which together added nearly a million jobs to the nation's payrolls. The goods-producing industries that had been hard hit by job losses last year accounted for nearly half of these job gains.

Construction employment rose by 85,000 in June, following an increase of similar magnitude in May and reflecting across-the-board advances in residential and commercial construction.

Manufacturing job increases totaled 75,000, with the largest gains in those durables industries associated with construction, including lumber and wood products, furniture, and stone, clay, and glass products.

Employment increases in non-durable goods were led by textile mill products. Service industry employment continued its recent strong growth with a rise of 145,000 in June and jobs in retail trade also rose sharply (95,000).

Employment in state and local government declined by 95,000, entirely in education. These movements may have been effected by the later-than-usual reference week.

The average workweek of production or nonsupervisory workers on private nonfarm payrolls was unchanged in June at 35.1 hours. The manufacturing workweek and factory overtime both rose two-tenths of an hour, returning to the April levels of 40.1 and 2.9 hours.

The index of aggregate weekly hours of production workers in private nonagricultural payrolls — a comprehensive measure which reflects changes in employment as well as the workweek — rose by 0.7 percent.

The average hourly earnings, at $7.97, were unchanged over the month but up 23-cents over the year. Average weekly earnings increased $2.39 in June and $13.94 from June 1982.

The Hour Earnings Index (HEI) was 154.8 (1977

Hearing on floodway map at 1 p.m. Friday

A public hearing by the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Water Resources and the Missouri Department of Natural Resources will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at 707 N. First St. in Laclede's Landing, St. Louis, the headquarters building of the Bi-State Development Agency. The purpose of the hearing is to explain and receive comment on a proposed floodway map for the Mississippi River.

A floodway map is an administrative tool to assist the federal, state and local agencies that are managing development in the flood plain.

Because so many different agencies are involved along the Mississippi River, the states of Illinois and Missouri have agreed to prepare a master floodway map that would be adopted for use by all of them. The Bi-State Development Agency serves as the coordinating agency for the seven port districts and authorities in the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis and chairs the Port Advisory Council.

The floodway map covers the Mississippi River from Lock and Dam 22 near Hannibal, Missouri, to the mouth of the Kaskaskia River near Chester, Illinois.

Once adopted, the floodway map will be used to guide state and local regulation of floodway development. Such regulations ensure that new development in the floodway will not restrict or obstruct flood flows, thereby causing increased damage to nearby properties.

Copies of the floodway map and an explanation of floodway regulations are available for public review at the Bi-State Development Agency, 707 N. First St. Comments on the map will be accepted until Aug. 15, 1983.

More information is available from Darryl Thompson, manager of port development, Bi-State Development Agency, at 314-982-1510.

Defeat the censured lawmakers

Censure is a serious and rare action by Congress—23 censures in two centuries, including five since 1890—but it was justified in the case of two congressmen, Daniel B. Crane, Illinois Republican, and Gerry E. Studds, Massachusetts Democrat.

Since they do not plan to resign, and since fellow legislators declined to order expulsion, voters ought to make sure both retire or are defeated in 1984. (The effect of censure, rather than reprimand, was that they had to be present July 20 to hear the censure resolutions read.)

The pages who run errands on Capitol Hill are little more than children. Their selection to serve in Washington has been regarded as a high honor, and Congress has a clear duty to respect them and guard their welfare.

Instead, taking advantage of their elective posts, the two men established sexual relationships with impressionable 17-year-olds.

Crane, married and the father of six, at least opposing the state's prison overcrowding "solution" (court-ordered tripling of 90-day good-conduct term reductions).

Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber commented, "Early release is endangering the progress counties have been making against crime. Class X felony sentences and mandatory prison time for home burglars are working; the crime rate is falling because more criminals are in jail. This is no time to reverse initiatives the governor started and prosecutors have implemented."

We tend to agree with both of the prosecutors and we sympathize with Illinois sheriffs, who are faced with worsening jail crowding as the state prisons slow their acceptance of convicted felons.

This is not to say that the state government has ignored expanding the prison system; but it must continue and speed up that task, lest it negate efforts in each community to protect law-abiding citizens.

Save Abe Lincoln's property

The only Farm Abraham Lincoln ever owned and the last Lincoln real estate to remain in private hands will be sold at auction Aug. 3. We sincerely hope some historical coalition will win the bidding and preserve this important property, located south of Charleston, Ill.

Now we know that history is a bit dry for many readers, but we urge you to read on. There are some interesting tidbits of our heritage here.

According to the Lincoln Heritage Trail Foundation, in 1841, Lincoln bought the farm next to his father's farm, from his father, Thomas Lincoln. Through a quirk of fate, it remained in Abraham's name until 20 years after his death. It was on this 40-acre farm that Abe's mother, Sara Bush Lincoln, died four years after Lincoln's assassination in 1865.

Abraham Lincoln's farm lies adjacent to the last farm his father owned, which now is the 80-acre Lincoln Log Cabin State Park (complete with a real log cabin), a working pioneer farm which now is owned and operated by the Illinois Department of Conservation. It is the site of an historical interpretative program, which is acted out year-round and attracts up to 100,000 visitors each year.

Around the turn of the century, the 40 acres was purchased would have been sufficient to get that point across without involving the small child so directly in the spotlight's glare. He remains insensitive about the well-being of the young, and continues to act in accord with his own wishes.

We also fault Crane for many years' public posturing as a person of uniquely high integrity, including some supposedly forthright statements about the page investigation after he knew he had done wrong but before he learned his role would be disclosed.

Studds, 46, an unmarried homosexual who victimized a boy page, brazenly defended his conduct as nothing more than an attempt to lead "a meaningful private life." He called it a matter of "mutual consent"—activity that is not wrong and is nobody's business. But testimony gathered by the Ethics Committee showed he not only had a relationship with one page but unsuccessfully tried to seduce two other male pages.

Such gross misuse of these important offices is contemptible—"a stain on the public record," in the words of House Ethics Chairman Louis Stokes.

Cong. John Dingell summed up the disgrace by saying, "I've lived in terror of someone preying upon the pages. I never dreamed it would be members of Congress."

Gov. Thompson stressed a get-tough, "law and order" approach when he first took office. Now, as a third-term governor, he hardly can say judges and juries are wrong in convicting criminals whose guilt has been proven by hard-working law enforcement and prosecutorial staffs.

That is the kind of progress he helped foster, and it was "big Jim" himself, a former federal prosecutor, who advocated longer minimum prison terms for crimes against persons. The public clearly wants answers between it and those who try to victimize the aged, the young, the frail and other targets of crime.

As Weber sees it, "For the immediate future, the state needs to allow double-bunking at its prisons and to reverse its policy against double-bunking at county jails. The long-term answer is to build more prisons."

Barcovic agrees and adds, "The Corrections Department is not responding with data on prison cells, populations and construction costs that it has been asked for. It has not been cooperative. It wants to run its own kingdom and dump the problems on us, but we are not the corrections department."

chased by the son of a Civil War veteran, who owned most of the surrounding property and had farmed with the Lincolns. It has remained in that family's hands until today.

The historical significance of the property was "lost to history" until Neiman Marcus "discovered" it in 1978 and made it internationally famous by offering a $30,000 "safari" to it, billed as the world's poorest "week-long camp-out for five people."

In addition to the "Abraham property," 90 additional acres will be auctioned off at Aug. 3 at 1 p.m. Most of the additional property used to belong to Thomas Lincoln. The auction will be in the pavilion of the adjacent Lincoln Log Cabin State Park, located eight miles south of Charleston on the Lincoln Heritage Trail.

We certainly hope that whoever buys the property will maintain it as an historical site. It would be a pity to see it become the site of the "Lincoln Industrial Center" or some similar fate.

By the by, if on an outing to the Charleston area, don't miss the Abe Lincoln statue just east of Charleston. It is billed as the public's largest Lincoln statue. We won't comment about it too much, except to say, it sure is tall. It's an unusual sight.

They (the government) want everything in their favor and nothing in our favor. There's government subsidies (for foreign trade). They don't play fair ball, as far as I'm concerned. I don't think they are fair."

Opposing Sasyk's role in Venice Township

To the Editor:

"I have not been nor will be a political stooge for (Madison Mayor) Mike Sasyk, nor will I be a boot-licking lackey for him."

Bravo, Mr. Vasileff. Very well put.

I am very pleased to see so many people in the past few years, and more so in recent months, speak up and out against the self-proclaimed "Madison city leader."

Mayor Sasyk has fooled a lot of people in the city of Madison, but I, for one, and it seems many others, are not fooled. Mayor Sasyk admits he has not attended a township meeting in 10 years. Well then, I ask you the same question he posed, "What good is that guy? Who needs him?"

Mr. Vasileff served the township well for 14 years until one day he refused to put up a political sign or go see the mayor himself.

Mayor Sasyk, I did think you were a little smarter than that. To make such remarks in an open column of a well-circulated newspaper!

I feel sure he will not seek re-election next time around. If he does run again and win, then the citizens of Madison are the fools.

You say that you do not run the township, only that they are co-mingled. Well, if you tell someone you want a person fired and he is, or he is forced to resign, then what do you call that? An innocent bystander?

Mayor Sasyk states, "If you do nothing political but are going to be at the trough, you should participate and try to help (those who hired you). It's a simple matter of mathematics."

I phrase the question a little differently. "If you do nothing political or meaningful while you are at the rough, you should try to help those who elected you."

Again sir, "a simple matter of mathematics."

In this afternoon's mail, Tri-Cities employers received President Roosevelt's Re-employment Agreement which sets forth the various conditions under which employers will be governed if they sign it. The agreements were not addressed but delivery was made through the mail carriers to every known employer on their routes. Postmaster Sowell said this afternoon

This agreement is part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment and thus increase the purchasing power and restore business.

Two industries to consider GC sites

Two industries considering opening plants in Granite City will meet with Mayor Paul Schuler and the aldermanic industrial search committee next week.

Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler announced Tuesday that representatives of a steel-processing firm will meet in the mayor's conference room at 11 a.m. on Monday. The company has previously conducted preliminary talks with Bowler and City Attorney John Papp.

"The firm's ready to come in," Bowler said. It is the second steel-processing firm which has studied opening here. Heldman Steel already has announced its intentions to build a plant in Granite City immediately.

If the other new steel firm, based in Toledo, Ohio, opens a plant here, about 50 new jobs are expected to be created.

A waste reclamation firm, based in Germany, also is in the final discussion stage of its plans to open operations here, according to Bowler. Firm officials will meet with the mayor and city officials at 1 p.m. on Aug. 5.

The reclamation firm is interested in buying the wastewater treatment plant's sludge, Bowler said. Disposing of the sludge currently is a costly item for the city.

Bowler expects both companies to discuss requests for tax abatement privileges. A resolution on tax abatements may be brought before the council next month.

If all goes according to schedule, Bowler said, it is possible one or both companies could be starting operations here before winter.

Hearing tomorrow on natural gas pricing

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) will chair a hearing to assess the management of imported natural gas to the United States before the Senate Governmental Affairs Subcommittee on Energy, Nuclear Proliferation and Government Processes at 10 a.m. Friday in Washington, D.C.

"The hearing will examine recent developments affecting natural gas imports and what they mean for consumers in Illinois and across the nation," Percy said. "It will also be used to find out from pipelines serving Illinois what prices consumers can expect to face this winter. We cannot afford another round of price hikes like last year."

The developments Percy referred to include:

—The Canadians' proposed incentive pricing scheme which lowers prices for high volume purchases of imported natural gas.

—The agreement reached between Trunkline LNG Company — a subsidiary of Panhandle Eastern Corporation which serves Central Illinois and imports natural gas from Canada and Algeria — and Sonatrach — the natural oil and gas company of Algeria — that provides for a 40 percent reduction in purchases of liquefied natural gas (LNG) from April 1, 1983, through November 30, 1984.

—The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (FERC) "show cause" order which requires Trunkline to state why its certificate to continue importing LNG from Algeria should not be revoked.

Government officials and representatives of Panhandle and Natural Gas Pipeline — which serves two-thirds of Illinois and imports natural gas from Canada — will testify at the hearing. They include: Charles M. Butler III, chairman of FERC (invited); Rayburn D. Hanzlik, administrator of the Economic Regulatory Administration; E. Allan Wendt, deputy assistant secretary for international energy policy, Department of State; Kenneth E. Kalen, president, Panhandle, and Louis A. Accident leads to arrest of brothers

A one-car accident early Monday morning resulted in two charges against the alleged driver, Jimmie Dale Poe, 22, of 2023 Bryan Ave., who reportedly left the scene and was located by police in the 2800 block, between Madison Avenue and Iowa Street, and the arrest of a passenger found in a building some blocks away.

Jimmie Dale Poe allegedly was driving north in the 2800 block of Madison Avenue when he applied the car's brakes, causing the vehicle to slide on the wet pavement. He lost control of the auto, which went off the east side of the road and struck a street sign and bus stop bench, reports said.

Both the driver and a passenger allegedly ran from the scene. A search of the area was made and a man without a shirt and wearing cut-off jeans was seen running from an alley and east along 26th Street, between Washington and Iowa.

Officers pursued the person and allegedly saw the man hit a door in a complex of buildings at Harshany Electric Co., 2536 Washington Ave., then enter the building.

While searching a storeroom-workshop area at the electrical firm, Jimmie D. Poe Jr., 18, of 2304 Edison Ave., a half-brother of the other man, came out of hiding and surrendered to officers. The wooden door jamb and lock were damaged by the force of the 18-year-old hitting the door, reports said.

Jimmie D. Poe Jr. was charged with criminal trespass to property and criminal damage to property. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of a hand injury and was admitted to undergo surgery.

Jimmy Dale Poe was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and illegal transportation of alcohol when two cans of beer allegedly were recovered from the vehicle.

The latter appeared in the Granite City court at 4:40 p.m. Monday and pleaded guilty to the traffic charges.

Jimmie Dale Poe also was ordered held for California authorities on an active warrant and was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 5 p.m. Monday.

Vadalabene honored for aid to education

An award in "Recognition of Outstanding Efforts on Behalf of Education in the State of Illinois" has been presented to Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville).

The presentation was made by James F. Staff, Vandalia, president of the Illinois Association of Regional Superintendents of Schools, at the organizations annual conference in Springfield on July 22. Harold E. Briggs, superintendent of schools in Madison County, introduced the senator to the assembled group.

"This award has a very special meaning this year," Vadalabene said. "It took courage and guts to earn it. I'm proud to say that I was one of 30 senators, out of a total of 59, who were willing to bite the bullet."

"We did what had to be done to prevent the 'so called' doom budget," which would have been devastating to education all up and down the line," said Vadalabene.

DISORDERLY CHARGE

Harry Wayne Painter, 25, of 3009 Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct following a disturbance in which he allegedly beat and kicked the door of his estranged wife's apartment at 3709 Kirkpatrick Homes. He was released upon posting a $52 cash bond.

TAKE TELEVISION

Burglars ransacked the apartment of Gail Gordon, 1007 Calhoun St., Venice, during the weekend and stole a new color television valued at $400. Entry was gained by prying a kitchen window open.

Fine and weekends in jail for GC man

A Granite City man was sentenced to serve 20 weekends in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville and fined $1,000 in connection with an accident occurring this week at Madison and Niedringhaus Avenues.

In a court appearance at 4:40 p.m. Monday, George E. French, 48, of 2233a Grand Ave., pleaded guilty to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

French's vehicle was northbound on Madison Avenue when it struck the rear of an auto operated by Laura J. Rigby, 20, of 10 Ruth Drive, which was halted for traffic, reports said.

Mrs. Rigby went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment, along with a passenger in her car, Barbara McKay, 19, of 1333a Madison Ave., of Madison.

French was taken by ambulance to the medical center, where he was treated for injuries and consented to a blood alcohol test. He was later released to police custody.

STOP MAN FROM BRIDGE JUMP
Alerted to a man believed to be ready to jump from the McKinley Bridge into the Mississippi River during the weekend, Venice officers found two men standing in the roadway talking to a third man.

The two men told police that the third man, a 32-year-old, Louisian, was over the bridge railing when they passed by. They also reported the man stated that he was going to jump off the bridge.

The man was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment, reports said.

Madison approves $1,671,573 budget, but provides no raises for policemen

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

A city budget totaling $1,644,108 was presented to the public and the Madison City Council by Thomas Gordon, chairman of the council's finance committee, Monday night at a public hearing. The budget proposal then was revised and resubmitted for final approval at a special meeting Tuesday night, reflecting a grand total of $1,671,573 and a 27 percent decrease from the 1982-83 budget of $2,290,625.

The 1982-83 budget showed a 25 percent cut from the previous fiscal year and, with another budget slash in the new proposal, there was a mixed reaction of policemen, their families, residents, and other city employees, who have been facing higher costs of living without wage increases.

The adopted budget does not provide for any salary increases for the Madison policemen. After a suggestion by Mayor Mike Sasyk that the budget be adjusted to provide a $100-a-month increase only for dispatchers working at the police desk, Gordon agreed to insert the additional amount in the tentative budget.

Mayor Sasyk informed the committee and aldermen that the $3.64 per hour salary for a dispatcher was set when the city hired college students to perform the duties. "Now we have full-time people working and they should have a raise in salary," the mayor explained.

The hotly-contested issue of a salary increase for the policemen resulted in a picket line in the front of the city hall Tuesday night (see separate story on today's front page).

Alderman Don Garrett made a motion to approve the budget with the stipulation that any monies received by the city from the state income tax hike would be used to give the police officers a raise.

A second stipulation was to hire the temporary trolleer as a permanent employee and grant her the increased salary provided for that position.

When told by the City Attorney Casper Nighossian that the budget was on the floor for approval or rejection and could not be voted on with any kind of stipulations, Garrett withdrew his motion.

The budget was approved by all aldermen with the exception of Don Garrett and Charles Rockett, who voted no, and William Gushfield and Robert Reeves, who were absent.

Both Garrett and Rockett voiced their disapproval of not having one of them on the finance committee to help prepare the budget and represent their wards. The mayor agreed to appoint Garrett to the committee and Garratt reiterated with the statement, "You have promised me this for a year and have done nothing to make it become a reality." Alderman Rockett responded, "Why should we vote for a budget we have nothing to do with and know nothing about the expenditures until you give us a copy and ask us to approve the document?"

In a response to a question regarding the pickets at the city hall Tuesday night, Mayor Mike Sasyk said prior to the meeting, with a smile, "It's action, and we like action here."

In a surprise move at the meeting, Alderman Gordon made a motion that the city retain Dr. Muhammad Jamil as the city physician on a temporary basis and Mrs. Ida Dant seconded the motion. Mayor Sasyk asked for a motion to go into executive session to discuss personnel. After the session, he asked for a motion to give Chief of Police Donald Bridick the authority to order the policemen who had reported off due to illness to go to the city physician for an examination. Four policemen were reported to be "sick" with "blue flu" Tuesday afternoon.

In conjunction with the controversy over the salaries of the police officers, Mayor Sasyk issued a schedule of yearly salaries of the policemen, which ranges from $16,959 to $19,748 a year, with a grand total of $241,885 a year. With overtime, the wages totaled $242,610 for the fiscal year from May 1, 1982, to April 30, 1983. The total amount includes the annual salary for the chief of police, which is $22,500. The mayor also included a summary of salaries computed throughout the state, noting that in downstate with cities under 10,000 population, the police chiefs average from $20,000 to $23,700 and patrolmen from $15,600 to $17,410.

A breakdown of the revenue sharing fund money ($64,700) allocates $200 for publications; $3,000 for senior citizens' programs; $15,000 for playground & recreation fund transfers; $10,000 for repairs to buildings; $7,500 for balance expenses; $10,000 alarm service equipment; $7,500 for the senior citizens' bus; $4,000 for the Senior Aides program and $7,500 for streets and alleys.

Depot tract to go to highest bidder

The U.S. government plans to sell 44.05 acres of the Granite City Army installation to the highest bidder Sept. 14, the U.S. General Services Administration announced this week.

The land, described as "Tract Number One" is believed to be part of the larger chunk of the installation which drew intense competition among Quad-City governmental units when it was declared surplus some time ago.

Initially, Granite City, Madison, Venice and Tri-City Regional Port District, all of which touch the property, sought to buy it for industrial expansion in the mid and late 1970s. A plan was worked out for Venice and the port district to act as lead agents for acquiring the property. Subsequently, the port acquired some smaller portions.

The greater public good was among the criteria for deciding who would get the property at that time. This time, it is indicated in a bulletin from GSA, the property will go to the highest bidder.

Sealed bids will be accepted until 3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the GSA office, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60604. Persons wishing bid forms may write that address or telephone 1-312-353-3383.

According to GSA, "The property consists of 44.05 acres of land, zoned for heavy industry and improved with a rail marshaling yard, fencing, roads and utilities."

Move building to GC college

Plans to move a building from Cahokia to the Granite City Center of Community College District 522 were made by Belleville Area College trustees as they met here for the first time in several years.

Utilized for engine testing in aircraft maintenance instruction, the concrete block structure is being moved for $7,300 by Cruikshank Home Moving, Inc. It will be east of the gymnasium of the former Granite City High School North.

In connection with aviation mechanic courses, a C17 cargo plane and F4 jet will be airlifted to the local campus by helicopters before the start of the new term Aug. 20.

A dedication ceremony and open house will be held at the Granite City Center Aug. 11.

With 50 persons present for the late-July board meeting, Chairman Patricia Bartokas of New Athens greeted the gathering and described those in attendance as being among the driving forces behind establishment of the new college center.

"We as a board feel very grateful to have been so warmly received by the people of Granite City and especially Unit Nine," Mrs. Bartokas said.

Dr. Bruce R. Wissore, BAC president, said, "This is an extremely special occasion for us."

"Until now, we had not been able to serve Granite City and the northern area of District 522 the way we would have liked to serve."

"Opening the Granite City Center would not have been possible without the Community Unit District Nine school board. There is no way we can thank the board members enough for the time and attention they gave to the lease plan."

The college district arranged to rent North High after it had been listed for closing. The closing decision was based on enrollment patterns and a financial imbalance in District Nine.

"These spacious quarters will allow us to offer more than four times as many courses in Granite City this fall as in the past. Summer classes, previously held at Washington School, have already been moved to the new center," Pres. Wissore said at the meeting, held in the GCC cafeteria.

District Nine board members introduced were Pres. Donald Stucke, Secretary George Moore, Monroe Worthen and Robert Maxwell. Other members are Treasurer Dewey Melton, David Partney and Thomas Miosky.

Recognition was given Superintendent of Schools Bob A. Davis and Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus.

Kraus, longtime BAC coordinator and consultant here, is continuing in those roles. The trustees changed his title to instructional coordinator and Private Industry Council liaison, effective July 21.

Charles R. Steptoe, Madison High School guidance director, and Albert E. Schaefer, Venice High guidance counselor, are continuing as BAC coordinators in the Madison and Venice districts.

Leo H. Konzen was introduced as a member of the Granite City Center advisory board, which also includes Carl E. Mathias and E. A.

"Drew" Karandjoff.

Also introduced were Karl Monroe, Collinsville Herald senior editor, and William F. Winter, former Press-Record editor. Monroe has joined the GCC advisory board. Winter served with Dr. Wissore on the Quad-City area college formation study committee in the 1970s.

Dr. Wissore thanked Pres. William Donovan and Executive Jim Pennekamp for assistance by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Avery Schermer of Granite City serves as BAC board vice-chairman. The previous Granite City college trustee, Robert Harris, was introduced.

Also presented to the audience was Wilbur R.L. Trimpe, newly retired Lewis and Clark College president. He has been named BAC management consultant and will work with GCC programs to serve such communities as the Quad-Cities, Collinsville and Highland. Trimpe is a former Bethel and Madison County school superintendent.

Pres. Wissore paid tribute to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for its cooperation in the start-up of the GCC Center. The four-year university is providing a library and counseling services to two-year GCC, he said.

"GCC enrollment is surpassing even the most optimistic predictions," Provost Frank Gornick said at the meeting, noting that fall registration had reached 7,440 credit hours that evening, compared to about 10,000 credit hours in Granite City previously for an entire year.

"And we still have almost a month of registration to go," he pointed out. "We're proud to say that GCC is the fastest-growing community college in the nation, and we're adding more telephone lines to keep up with the demand."

It was estimated that 1,000 students have registered. A full-time student takes an average of 15 credit hours per semester.

Dr. Gornick introduced GCC faculty and staff members and Dr. Wissore introduced Sharon Ann Armstrong, newly-named Madison County field coordinator of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, and Senior Companion Program.

Trustees present along with Mrs. Bartokas and Schermer were Mrs. Elizabeth Jenner, Kenneth Fish, Curt Eckert and Robert Dintelmann.

In a discussion of airplane pilot training conducted by BAC, Trustee Fish outlined ways for the college to assure adequate tuition reimbursements to veterans.

Wayne Clark, executive vice-president directing the Belleville campus, Weldon Tallant, vice-president for student services, and James Hines, business vice-president.

Thomas Alvey defined the proposed contract for moving the Cahokia engine test structure as involving a timing emergency and also unique skill and equipment. Competitive bidding for the task was waived.

An analysis showed that construction of a new building would have been more expensive.

Funds remaining for food vouchers for the area unemployed

Quad-Cityans who are unemployed and have drawn unemployment during the last two years, you may qualify for up to $50 in free food on a one-time basis.

There still are funds available through the National Food and Shelter Program for this project, a spokesman for Protestant Welfare, reported this week.

A person must have been unemployed and drawn unemployment since June 1, 1981. Applicants also must produce a receipt showing he paid his June or July, 1982, gas and electric bill (bill will be kept), an unemployment card issued after June 1, 1981, unemployment papers and proper ID. The utility account must be under the same name as of the person who has drawn unemployment. In place of a utility bill, a receipted June or July pharmacy bill may be used. An applicant cannot qualify if an agency or township has paid a voucher. Only one person in a family can apply for a food voucher.

If an applicant meets the required guidelines, he will receive a food voucher in exchange for a paid receipted utility or pharmacy bill. The amount of the food voucher will equal the amount of the receipt shown, unless the bill is more than $50. The maximum amount of a voucher is $50.

The disbursements will continue at the Protestant Welfare office every Monday and Tuesday until the money runs out.

Unemployment added as criteria for UDAG grant

U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) has announced that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has agreed to include unemployment in its criteria for participation in the Small Cities Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) Program.

After HUD announced in June that 211 Illinois communities would be dropped from the Small Cities UDAG program because 1980 census data would be used to determine eligibility, Percy asked HUD to add unemployment as a factor in considering which cities would qualify for aid.

"UDAGs are intended to go to areas in economic distress. It simply makes no sense to ignore unemployment — the most important barometer of economic distress — in determining which cities can qualify for aid," Percy said. "I am extremely gratified that Secretary Pierce has seen fit to include unemployment as a criterion for this important program."

Percy had announced his intention to offer an amendment to the Housing and Community Development Act to keep the Illinois cities eligible for UDAGs until unemployment was taken into consideration. Currently, cities with populations of less than 25,000 must meet HUD criteria in three of four areas: age of housing, poverty, population and per capita income growth.

Cities with populations of 25,000 to 50,000 must meet HUD criteria in three of five areas: age of housing, poverty, population, per capita income, and job lag.

Unemployment would be added as a sixth qualifying category.

HUD spokesmen said they expect that beginning in October, unemployment will be added as a fifth qualifying category.

HUD awards UDAGs to cities on a competitive basis. Cities receiving UDAGs lend their grant money to invest in job-creating projects and repay the city with interest.

The city then may lend the money to other industries for additional job-creating projects. UDAGs have stimulated nearly $1 billion in new private investment and created 22,000 permanent jobs since 1978, according to Percy.

HUD was unable to determine which of the 211 cities would retain their eligibility when unemployment is included as a criterion, but it is estimated that at least 120 Illinois cities would be included.

Warn of dangers of swallowing batteries

William L. Kempners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has issued a warning to consumers that miniature or disc alkaline batteries may be accidentally swallowed and become lodged in the esophagus or intestine.

Occasional severe complications and even fatalities can occur when these batteries slowly leak alkaline electrolytes and cause internal chemical burns.

"The batteries we are concerned with are the button batteries used in watches, calculators, cameras, hearing aids and games," Kempners said. "Although the vast majority of these batteries, when accidentally swallowed, will pass through the digestive tract without any problem, there have been reports of injury."

Most of the injuries and fatalities involved batteries that were left out loose rather than properly discarded or stored; the remainder were in the product they were intended for and removed from the product.

Half of the batteries were in hearing aids.

In a recent study, it was found that 90 percent of the accidental ingestions occurred in children under 12 years of age.

The following recommendations should help prevent button battery ingestion, he says.

—Never put button batteries in your mouth for any reason — they are slippery and easily swallowed accidentally.

—Always check medications before swallowing them. Adults have swallowed batteries mistaken for tablets.

—Keep hearing aids out of the reach of children, or if they are a hearing aid user, caution them of the danger.

—If a button battery is swallowed, contact your Poison Resource Center, your physician or the National Button Battery hotline at 1-202-625-3333.

ALLEGES MAN, 28, DECLINES TO LEAVE

Frederick A. Elmore Jr., 28, of 2226 Lee Ave., was arrested this week at the entrance to the Barrel Lounge, 1226 Nineteenth St., where he was standing in the doorway, allegedly beating on the door and refusing to leave.

Elmore was charged with criminal trespass to property after it was learned the man allegedly was removed from the tavern less than an hour earlier. He was released after posting a $52 cash bond.

Vatican art treasures in Chicago

By FRANK AGUILAR
CHICAGO — The Vatican is an independent city-state that has been the residence of popes without interruption since the late 14th century, and its popes have been collecting priceless art over those centuries.

Those priceless collections of artistic works, from Classical and Egyptian antiquity to the 20th century, have been resurrected for a three-city American tour and have become the bulk of "The Vatican Collections: The Treasury and Art," at the Art Institute in Chicago.

The show will continue through Oct. 16. It will be the first time in history that the American public will have the opportunity to view the entire history of art collected by the popes through the centuries.

"This unprecedented exhibition will give Chicago Art Institute visitors and the public of America the remarkable opportunity to see great treasures from the entire history of art that have been collected by the Vatican for centuries," said James N. Wood, director of the Art Institute.

Wood has a right to be excited.

The Art Institute was chosen along with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York (where the exhibit was on view Feb. 26 through June 12) and the Fine Arts Museum of San Francisco, where the exhibit will go after closing in Chicago.

And the exhibit will be nothing less than spectacular. More than 200 works from the museums of the Vatican, the Vatican Library and St. Peter's Basilica will be shown.

Specifically, the installation will be divided into five sections and will include objects selected from the Treasury and Fabbrica of St. Peter's, the Museo Sarto of the Vatican Library, the Pio-Clementine Museum, the Vatican Picture Gallery, the Gregorian, the Egyptian, Etruscan and Profane museums; the Pio-Christian Museum; the Missionary-Ethnological Museum, and the Collection of Modern Religious Art.

Among the outstanding works of art coming from these collections are: "The Apollo Belvedere," the first piece of antique sculpture to enter a papal collection; the "Belvedere Torso," a work from the first century B.C. that inspired Michelangelo in his Sistine Chapel work; "Statue of the Good Shepherd," an example of one of the earliest depictions of Christ; "The Miraculous Draught of Fishes," a tapestry designed by Raphael; two terra-cotta studies executed by Bernini for the completion of a papal interior monument in St. Peter's; "St. Jerome," Caravaggio's "The Deposition of Christ," Poussin's "The Martyrdom of St. Erasmus," paintings by Gentile de Fabriano and Fra Angelico; modern works by Mattise, Derain and Ben Shahn, and from the Missionary-Ethnological Museum, a rare stone sculpture of the Aztec feathered serpent god, Quetzacoatl.

Funding for the exhibit has been provided by several major grants. Continental Bank provided a $500,000 contribution, while the City of Chicago chipped in with $250,000.

In all, the exhibit cost nearly $8 million to organize.

Visitors at the Art Museum will be able to buy all kinds of mementos of the exhibit, from books to miscellaneous replicas.

The show will take up two floors of the museum. Tickets are available at the Art Institute and at Ticketron outlets for $4. There are special recorded tours that can be rented at the museum for $2.50.

There also will be expanded exhibit tours from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Exhibit times are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays. A sampler tour of the Vatican collections will be at the Illinois State Museum in Springfield, Aug. 12.

Archbishop Paul C. Marini, pro-president of the Pontifical Commission for the Vatican Estate, said the exhibition "is a sign of the Holy Father's will to reach out to people. He does it in person during his visits, and he does it with the works of art that are entrusted to his custody and care."

Musical preview on 'Coffee Break'

A preview of "Music Man" to be presented by the local Summerstage theater group will be presented on the "Coffee Break" with Gregg McGee, South-Western Cable TV program.

The musical will be performed July 29 and 30 at the Washington Theater in downtown Granite City. The director, Beverly Scroggins, and musical director, Rogers Melford, will be "Coffee Break" guests.

The preview will be aired at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Friday on Channel 11.

Pitches in Park District 7A softball league

By BELINDA CONLEY
of the Press-Record

There are not many teams in the Wilson Park softball league that can boast about its 125-year-old battery, but one that can is the Rebecam Auto Parts team.

John Allen, Rebecam manager and occasional pitcher, and Paul Hayes a Rebecam catcher, make up the pitcher-catcher duo. Allen is 62, and Hayes is one day younger.

Allen and Hayes have been friends since grade school in Madison. They were on the same football team in high school and after graduating, both went to work for the same railroad company. The two men worked together for 40 years with Allen retiring last year and Hayes retiring this year.

Sixty years of friendship has left Allen and Hayes with many memories. One of their favorites happened during their high school football career.

In a game against Granite City, Allen was playing fullback, while Hayes played halfback. On an end run, Granite City's big tackle John Tarpoff came after Hayes.

Allen, who was blocking for Hayes, was no where in sight and little 130 pound Hayes ran for his life. Luckily, Allen showed up just about the time that Tarpoff was about to clobber Hayes and tackled Tarpoff, breaking the tackle's leg. Allen, in fact all three, still laugh at it.

"It was a little tragic that I broke Tarpoff's leg, but if I hadn't, he would have probably have broken Paul's neck."

Despite their lifelong friendship, Allen and Hayes didn't play softball together until this year when Allen's team was short one player. Allen said he called Paul because, "Paul is a good friend, he only plays when I need him, but he keeps in shape and I know he can do the job." Their years of friendship have made them a better battery according to Allen.

"I know how Paul is going to react in every situation, and I know what he can do, whereas with someone else I wouldn't."

When these two old friends get together on the softball field, the total age of the Rebecam battery is 125 years, an unlikely combination in the 7A division of the Granite City Park District softball league. There are nine divisions in park softball with 9A being the toughest. Only a select few are good enough to play 7A or higher.

In this division where the average player is 27, John Allen holds his own, quite well.

Allen has always been an above average athlete, and although the years have slowed him down some, he feels the years of experience have given him an edge that helps him keep up with younger players.

"Anyone with a little practice can get the ball over the plate, but experience and brains make a good pitcher," Allen said.

Allen, a right-hander, has been playing softball for nearly 50 years, and has been playing in Wilson Park League since 1947.

Allen is a sort of father figure for his teams. He says they "respect his longevity in the game." Because of his years of experience, his players look to him for instruction, and he enjoys teaching them.

Some might not think a 62-year-old athlete would be much of a threat on either offense or defense, but teammates, and opponents know better. Allen is not an easy mark as a pitcher or a hitter. He has always been a .400 plus hitter, and although he can't hit the ball as hard or as far as he once could, his average is still one that many of the younger players covet.

He says he has no special secret for staying in shape, but he works out with weights and jogs, and claims that even that has not kept him from losing the quick reflexes he had 20 years ago. Although Allen loves playing softball, he takes his greatest pleasure from instructing youngsters. Besides managing the Rebecam team, he also coaches a Mitchell girls' softball team of 11 and 12 year olds.

He enjoys coaching both teams, but is most enthusiastic about his girls' team. The team, Rhinehart's Angels, is 8-2, and Allen attributes their winning record not to his coaching but to the girls' interest and eagerness to learn.

One basic idea that Allen uses with both teams is to prohibit criticism by anyone other than himself. The practice of his theory prevents a lot of problems between players.

"I have one idea that I use with both teams, I don't allow one player to criticize another. It works because it avoids a lot of animosity on the team."

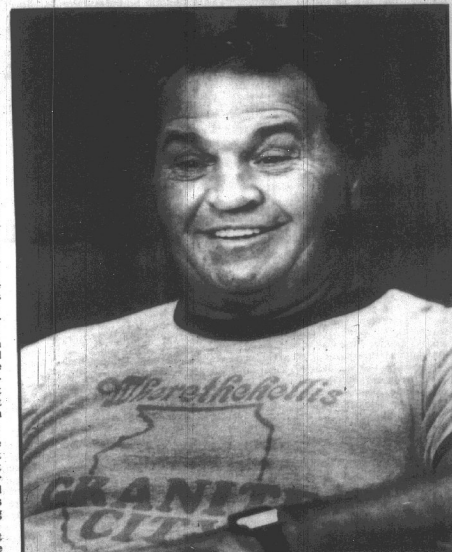

His success as a coach and his dedication to youth was recognized by the Park District in 1980 when he was presented with the Park District Service Award, an accomplishment of which he is very proud.

"It really feels good to be recognized,

Granite City Native Whelan sets sites on 1984 Olympics

Khrist Whelan, a collegiate All-American wrestler at the University of Missouri and a Granite City native, is back in Granite City this week as an instructor at the Granite City Center wrestling camp and to take a brief break from training.

In late August, Whelan will start the long road to the tryouts for the 1984 Olympic Games at Los Angeles with workouts up to the tryouts in late April.

Whelan will be training with Ed Elenivinski, the gold medalist in the 1972 Olympic Games in the 140½ pound Greco-Roman division. Elenivinski won the medal as a citizen of the Soviet Union, but he defected to the United States. The two will work together four to five hours each day at Kansas City, Mo., until the tryouts.

"I consider myself quite lucky to be training with a Russian because the Russians are the dominant team in Greco-Roman wrestling," Whelan said. "He will definitely give me a lot of tips on how to become a better wrestler."

Whelan, who wrestled in the Amateur Athletic Union freestyle competition and unofficially finished fifth, thinks his best chance at making the Olympic team is in Greco-Roman.

"It's a different style than what I have been wrestling, but I feel this is the type of wrestling which I do best," Whelan said. "I think I'm a better Greco-Roman wrestler than a freestyle wrestler."

In Greco-Roman wrestling, athletes are allowed to use only the upper part of their bodies to wrestle.

Whelan will tryout for the U.S. Olympic team at 130½ pounds. Whelan and Wes Roper, an assistant wrestling coach at the University of Missouri who will try out at 165 pounds, are both training with Elenivinski.

"I'm going to have to sacrifice a lot to make it. I think this may be my last shot at making the team because I'll have to get my act together after the Olympics," Whelan said.

GCHS' Baker leads camp

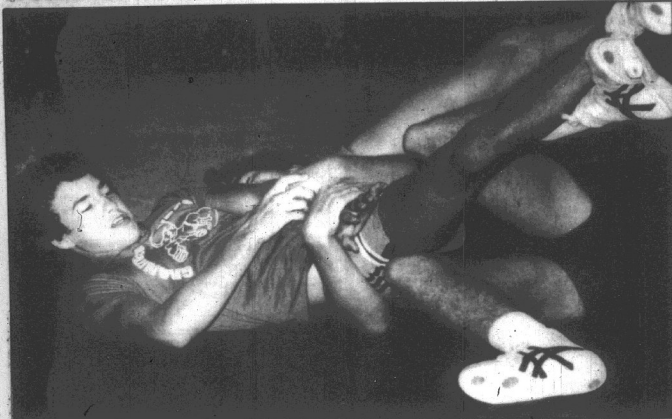

Granite City Senior High School soccer coach, Gene Baker, will lead a five-day soccer camp from Aug. 8-12 at the St. Elizabeth's soccer fields on Pontoon Road.

Campers will attend the camp daily for four hours: 9 to 11 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. The camp, which is open to boys only, costs $42, which includes insurance.

Persons may register locally by calling Philip Achenbach at 931-3045 or Baker at (314) 355-2374.

G.C. Legion drops pair to ESTL; places fourth

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Sports Editor of the Press-Record

E. ST. LOUIS — Only two teams have swept both games, home and away, from the Granite City Junior American Legion baseball team. Those two teams, East St. Louis and Duplo (both 17-5), have tied for first in the league. A coin flip Wednesday has determined that Duplo will enter this weekend's tournament as the top seed.

Should the teams meet in the Junior American Legion Playoffs this weekend, that game may decide the league championship, said Dick Pouch, league secretary-treasurer. If both coaches don't agree to such terms, a championship game may be played next week, he said.

East St. Louis was 17-4 Wednesday, but because it and Greenville did not make up a postponed game before the Wednesday deadline, both teams were issued a forfeit, Pouch said.

Last Saturday, Granite City lost to Duplo, 7-0. Monday, the Granite City nine dropped an ebb and flow contest to East St. Louis 4-3.

Last night at Jones Park in East St. Louis, Granite City lost its eighth game of the season, a 5-3 decision to East St. Louis.

"The series of losses normally wouldn't hurt a team battling for a third place finish, but in the final week of regular season play, coaches seem to judge in the standing scenario."

Granite City has beaten most of the teams that it "should have." But at the same time, it has allowed some victories to slip away that shouldn't. That inconsistency has cost Granite City a third place finish in the league.

A fourth team, Bethalto, has edged Granite City for third place. Bethalto (14-7-1) has played more consistently, beating the lesser talented teams and losing to the stronger teams—than Granite City (14-8). While Granite City was losing to teams which have considerably poorer league records, Bethalto was systematically winning the "predictable" games.

Two of Granite City's losses were games against fifth place Troy and seventh place Belleville. Those two games, Coach Kevin Sykes contends, is what made the difference in Granite City's final standings in the league.

"The 2-1 loss to Troy was at the peak of our slump. We couldn't put the men on and when we did, we could get the hits to bring them in."

Against Belleville, Granite City was coasting along with a 4-0 lead in the fifth when catastrophe struck.

A couple of errors, some clutch Belleville hitting and controversial calls, Sykes said, took the momentum away from Granite City. And, after seven innings, that one slipped away too.

Although this week's losses were to "better" teams, it could also be said that those games also slipped away.

Against East St. Louis Monday, Granite City jumped out to an early 3-0 lead in the second inning, but let it slip away in the third when East St. Louis scored three in its half of the inning to tie the game.

The game remained tied through the middle innings before East St. Louis scored one run on a hit in the top of the seventh to win.

Both pitchers, David McGee of East St. Louis and Rodney Sampson of Granite City, were superb on the hill. Each allowed just three hits. McGee struck out nine and walked five. Sampson struck out five and walked eight.

Identically, East St. Louis' winning run reached on a walk.

Wednesday night's game developed remarkably the same way.

Granite City was again the first to score. Too, it was in the second inning.

Tom Adamitis reached on a walk and Pat Cathey rapped a triple deep left field to score Adamitis. Cathey later scored on a wild pitch to give Granite City a 2-0 lead.

Tom Mosby scored in the third to give Granite City its third and final run of the evening. Mosby, who reached by slapping a two-out bloop single to center field, scored on Jim Mouldon's shot to center field.

East St. Louis narrowed the point spread as it managed a run in both its second and third innings. But it wasn't until the fourth inning when it took the lead.

Cedric Baker, East St. Louis' first baseman led off with a triple to left center field. Baker scored when Mosby's attempted putout of Fred Kimbrough eluded Cathey at first base.

With the score tied at three, Darwin Woodhouse slapped a two-run home run over Brent Cook in right field. The four-bagger, with Kimbrough aboard, was a blast from which Granite City never recovered.

Jim Collins, 6-1, on the season picked up the win for East St. Louis. Kelly Krausz took the loss for Granite City.

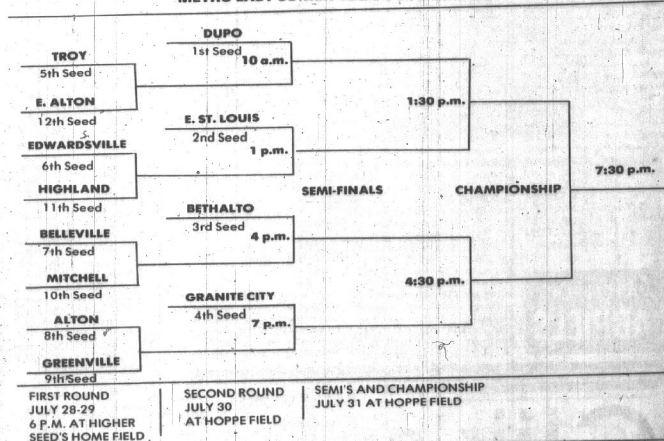

The Junior American Legion baseball tournament begins this evening. Action will continue on Saturday, July 30, with the second round action at Edwardsville's Hoppe Field.

Semi-final and final round action is slated for Sunday beginning at 1:30 p.m. The accompanying playoff bracket gives times and places of games.

Kessler, White tryout for National Senior Select team this weekend

Two Granite Cityans, Craig Kessler, 20, and Greg White, 19, have been selected to the North Regional Team, the first step towards naming athletes to the National Senior Select Team Tournament, which culminates this weekend, July 30-31, in Washington D.C.

The two left for Washington this morning.

Kessler, a senior at the University of Evansville in Indiana, tried out May 12 in Chicago. A stopper back, Kessler was notified of his selection to the North Regional Team May 30.

White, or Whitey as he's known by many, tried out a week later, May 15, at another North Regional tryout in Maryville, Mo. White is also a defender. Both are Granite City High School South graduates. Kessler graduated in 1980, while Whitey graduated in 1982.

Kessler and White are two of 72 athletes nationally who were selected to tryout for the National Select Team this weekend in our nation's capital. Of the 72, 18 from each of the four regions, 18 will be selected for the National Senior Select Team.

The purpose of the National Senior Select Team is to identify America's outstanding players for future national team participation. This is the first time, ever, that young men 19 through 22 years have been assembled for such a team.

To determine who will be selected to the National Senior Select Team, the 72 young men selected from the regional competition will compete in exhibition games for the sole purpose of selecting the National Senior Select Team.

Opening matches will be played July 28 at either Ft. McNair or the Armory Board Field in Washington D.C. The July 30 winners will meet the following day at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, prior to Team America's NASL contest against the Montreal Manic.

Athletes selected to the National Senior Select Team will be prime candidates for the United States Olympic soccer team.

The fact that Kessler and White were regional representatives to the team is not surprising. Both have amassed impressive credentials.

the National Sports Festival at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., is a four-year starter for the Evansville soccer team. In 1980, he was selected to the Illinois State Select Team, the Midwest Regional Team (USYSP), and the USYSP National Camp Team in Colorado Springs.

A member of four Illinois High School state championship teams, his Granite City Soccer Club team in 1980 was also state champions.

White, a member of three state high school championship teams, was also a member of the state championship Granite City Soccer Club team in 1980. An All-State selection in 1982, he was selected to the All Gateway East Conference and Sectional teams in 1981 and 1982.

A freshman at the University of Central Florida last year, he worked his way into a starting position. For the UCF team he was selected as Mr. Hustle and awarded the most valuable player, a prestigious award for a freshman.

Kessler, who is majoring in mechanical engineering at Evansville, is the son of Claude and Carol Kessler of Granite City.

White, a computer systems major at UCF, is the son of Jan White of Granite City.

The Illinois Board of Education requires all incoming high school freshmen to take a physical examination before entering high school. The exam requires a more thorough examination for admittance to high school. Consequently, incoming freshmen should be examined by their family physician.

Physical examinations for Granite City College soccer players will be given at the junior college gymnasium this Monday, Aug. 1.

According to GCC soccer coach Larry Petri, those athletes who have agreed to represent the college on the soccer field this year and other potential "walk-on" athletes may get their physicals, at the college's expense, at 3 p.m.

Athletes not able to attend the physical session, Petri said, should get their physicals from their family physician in time for practice the following day.

Petri said all athletes are expected to attend the team's first practice session Tuesday, Aug. 2, at 3 p.m.

Granite City church welcomes Siberians

Intense local interest has developed in the Pentecostals who have gained freedom from the Soviet Union and moved to this metropolitan area.

Four of them, Mr. and Mrs. Pyotr (Maria) Chmykhalov and son, Alexander, and daughter, Nadezhda, visited the First United Pentecostal Church in Granite City for the most recent Thursday night service, conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Reeves, pastor.

Several hundred persons attended the immigrants' first worship service in the U.S. The four honorees from Chernogorsk, a coal mining center in Siberia, were congratulated on the historic significance of their release.

The United Pentecostal Church—based in St. Louis County, with the Rev. Nathaniel Urshan as general superintendent—has been instrumental in arranging the release of 31 persons from the Soviet Union since April.

16 arrived July 19 in St. Louis.

The 100-degree heat and the weariness from their plane travel caused many of them to spend their initial hours in this area resting and sleeping. Their journey, which ended with a series of flights in a 30-hour span, had begun with a 3½-day train trip to Vienna, Austria.

Mr. and Mrs. Chmykhalov and sons, Alexander and Anatoli, participated in a press conference July 21 despite fatigue, illness and that day's 102-degree weather. They were eager to voice appreciation to all who had aided their escape from religious persecution.

Among those receiving profuse thanks was Rev. Urshan, whose persistence in calling attention to their plight is drawing praise. He made several trips overseas and spoke extensively in this nation, including a talk at the YMCA in Granite City.

The church leader described Chernogorsk as not only substantially colder than Midwestern America but also extremely desolate. He is scheduling English lessons for the new arrivals and seeking part-time jobs for those who plan to settle in St. Louis. Great emphasis will be placed on aiding them in overcoming the language barrier.

Those who have departed from the Soviet Union total 15 members of the Chmykhalov family and 16 of the Vaschenko family. Thirteen of the Vaschenkos went to Israel and three came to St. Louis; two of the Chmykhalovs are still in Europe.

At the press conference, Mrs. Chmykhalov said through an interpreter that the immigrants are pious by the elimination, for them, of the conflict between the laws of God and atheistic Soviet laws. They had been forced to practice their faith in secret for more than 20 years.

The families focused world attention on their plight when Mrs. Chmykhalov, 60, her son, Timofei, 21, and five other Pentecostals took refuge in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, remaining almost five years and becoming known as the "Siberian seven."

Alexander "Sasha" Chmykhalov was pleased when his mother returned home from the embassy to end the long separation, but said he feared that the world would forget about them and that the government would arrest her.

The families continued praying to God and eventually the Soviet Union decided to allow them to leave. They did so quickly, taking few possessions. Shopping for clothes and obtaining medical care were their first two tasks in their new homeland.

Anatoli, 27, is now praying that his fiancée will be permitted to come to this country from Siberia.

Church and community members have been generous in offering to provide for the families' immediate needs. The Siberians expect to decide on their long-range plans within several months.

The group has been overwhelmed by the warmth of the welcome, including a turnout of 300 for the 10:30 p.m. airport arrival, 90 minutes after the scheduled time.

The wait for the arriving plane was brief compared to the long battle with Soviet bureaucrats for exit visas. That battle would not have been won without the intervention of people from other countries, family members are convinced.

They regard themselves as self-reliant and hope somehow to repay all the help they have received. Their chief request is that Americans remain steadfast in praying for fellow Christians who still live behind Communism's "Iron Curtain."

11,603 young men register in county

Registration of 18-year-old men with Selective Service continued to increase in Illinois over the last five months, according to new statistics released by the Selective Service System's Region III at Great Lakes.

As of the end of May, 87,886 men born between 1960 and 1965 had registered, Richard E. Northern, state director for Illinois, announced. This is a compliance percentage of 92.6, he said. Madison County registrants total 11,603.

In the first five months of this year, 52,452 Illinois men registered. Northern said the figures indicate improvement from compliance of 89.9 percent at the beginning of January, and compare with a national compliance percentage of 96.2 through May, with 10,194,000 registrants. Illinois ranks 48th in the nation.

H. W. Walls, region director for Selective Service in Great Lakes, Ill., said he expected the June 29 action by the U.S. Supreme Court to have a positive influence on compliance with registration.

The action by the justices stayed a ruling by a lower court and allowed the government to require men to be registered in order to be eligible for Title IV federal aid.

Walls also noted that Selective Service recently referred the names of an additional 70,000 alleged non-registrants to the Department of Justice. This makes a total of 77,400 names referred for investigation and possible prosecution.

This action, said the system is diligent in pursuing the Congressional demand for registration," he said.

"Registration is a simple process. Within 30 days of his 18th birthday, a man must go to a post office and fill out a form that asks only for his name, address, telephone number, Social Security number and date of birth."

"It is now possible for a young man to register up to 120 days before his 18th birthday. In summary, registration is quick, it's easy, and it's the law."

The meeting will be in the Grand Ball Room on the basement level. All head injured individuals, their families and interested professionals are being urged to attend.

Entertainment for the head injured will be provided by St. Joseph Hospital's Therapy Department. The head injured should enter the hospital's front door, since the entertainment will be on the first floor.

Any interested persons needing directions or any other information may call 314-857-6225 or 1-656-2541.

Lottery up 48%; $214 million to state services

All previous records set by the Illinois State Lottery fell again last year (July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1983) as lottery revenues, profits, prizes and players, particularly volume, increased significantly.

The greatest percentage rise came in the lottery's profits, the money that goes back into the state's general revenue fund to help support education and other human services programs.

Those profits reached $214 million in fiscal 1983, up almost 50 percent from the $143 million posted in fiscal 1982, the year in which all previous records were set.

Total lottery revenues were up 48 percent over 1982, from $354.8 million to $466.4 million. Of this total, all but $1.1 million came from ticket sales, while the remainder was from interest earned and agent license fees.

Michael J. Jones, lottery superintendent, noted that the profits last year were greater than the lottery's total revenue in any of the first six years of the lottery's nine-year history.

The lottery reached the $1 billion mark in cumulative revenues in January 1983, after seven years of operation. He predicted that reaching the second billion dollar mark would take less than two years, and would occur before January 1984.

While noting that the organization of the lottery and its financial operations are not totally consistent with private business, Jones said the lottery would rank as the 42nd largest U.S. industrial corporation on the most recent Fortune 500 list in terms of total revenues. In net income, the lottery would rank 70th.

Also in terms of net income, the lottery, whose players, particularly volume, is now the fourth largest producer of revenue for the state's general revenue fund, following income taxes, sales taxes and public utility taxes. Only two years ago, the lottery was the sixth largest provider of Illinois' revenues.

Players won $23 million in prizes last year, 48 percent more than the $158 million they won in fiscal 1982. Lottery players won 47 cents in prizes for every $1 in ticket sales last year.

Agents got more than $25 million in commissions last year, an increase of 45 percent over the $17.2 million they received the year before.

In addition to their commissions, lottery agents receive a bonus of one percent of any prize worth at least $1,000 won by a ticket they sold. For example, the agent who sold the lotto ticket which won $3.6 million for a Matson family in May received an agent bonus of $36,000.

Agent ranks grew from 10,000 in 1982 to 10,500 in 1983. As of June 30, 3,760 of the 5,184 agents sold only instant tickets, while the remaining 6,424 sold all lottery products — instant game and the on-line game, including daily game pick and lotto.

Based on the average number of agents operating in fiscal 1983, each agent earned more than $5,800 in commissions. While the daily game was the lottery's biggest seller, instant game sales continued their fast growth which began in fiscal 1982. Instant game sales increased 105 percent, from $67.5 million to $137 million.

Jones attributed this to the lottery's marketing programs, and to the "fun and simplicity" which the lottery has been designing into the instant games.

Since instant games were redesigned in early fiscal 1982, instant game sales have increased more than 227 percent.

Larger instant prizes proved to be popular with players. In 1983, the top instant prize of $100,000, initially offered the year before, continued.

In one instant game last year, four out of the seven $100,000 winners doubled their winnings. Previously, the largest instant prize offered was $25,000.

The daily game continued to be the lottery's biggest seller with sales of almost $284 million, up 14 percent over the $249 million in daily tickets sold the year before.

In the first year, pick 4 sales reached $46.5 million, the four months in which this was on sale in the previous year, sales were $17.7 million.

The new lotto game, introduced in February 1983, exceeded all its sales projections and reached $28.9 million in total fiscal year sales.

The substantial interest among players, as several of them won prizes in excess of $1 million, including the record Illinois State Lottery prize of $3.6 million in May.

Council approves budget revised by mayor's veto

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler presented a budget veto address to council members Tuesday that knocked out their 7-21 vote passed $8.5 million budget. The action paved the way Wednesday for council members to approve the mayor's revamped $8.3 million budget.

The amended budget ordinance received 9-1 backing in the special session Wednesday. Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad cast the only dissenting vote.

Three other aldermen, Michael Modrusis, Sharon Perjak and Jake Varadani, who had earlier disapproved of the mayor's veto amendments, did not attend Wednesday's final vote session. Mrs. Perjak and Varadani said they had prior commitments.

The mayor's veto and subsequent budget amendments restored the air pollution department, the city's four-member legal staff and funds for police department repairs.

The amendments removed $250,000 for sewer repairs that the mayor said will be made up by an expected $300,000 in regular Community Development (CD) funding. The city already anticipates $300,000 in special federal "Jobs Bill" CD funds and approximately $475,000 in federal disaster funds to repair sewer breaks.

In addition to the budget amendments, Schuler made suggestions to remove from the 1983-84 tax levy $160,000 to provide for contingencies and $350,000 to cover 1983 deficit ambulance funding, among other levy items.

The net result could be a drop in the levy, Schuler said. The news came as a surprise to some council members who had been wrestling with ways to reduce a projected 62 percent levy increase.

However, the mayor called "a little premature" any attempts to extract an exact levy figure from the projected cuts. Aldermen have another month before a levy must be approved.

Moad said he vetoed against the budget — which he found too high — due to the city's rate of unemployment. He also disagreed with the amount of funds in the budget for employee health insurance.

Alderman Sam Whitmer did not outline the "several things" he did not agree with in the budget, but said it was important for the council to pass a budget "to get on with city business."

"It's not easy to be voting for any increase," Alderman Casner Skubish said. This year's budget represents a slight increase from the $8.2 million municipal budget approved last year.

Skubish cautioned residents not to become fearful of the levy but to understand that the levy will be used to pay for the city's obligations.

Lucas may lay off four employees

By JIM SCHLUSTER

Madison County Recorder of Deeds Ronald Lucas says four employees in his office may be laid off soon because of budget problems.

"There definitely will be layoffs, probably Friday," Lucas said Tuesday. "There probably will be four laid off, and then we'll have to see what happens."

Lucas met with the county board's finance committee in June to ask for $20,000 to continue operations at current service levels for the rest of fiscal year 1983, but the committee turned down Lucas' request.

"I venture to say there will be a lot of unhappy, irate people," Lucas said. "Instead of getting everything handled promptly, people will have to wait."

Lucas currently has a staff of 10 employees, which means the proposed layoffs would cut his staff by 40 percent. He said documents coming into his office are currently processed and returned to the public in one day but, with the layoffs, it may take days for documents to be returned.

These delays could have adverse effects on home sales, because home buyers are not able to receive money from banks and other lenders until a mortgage has been recorded, Lucas said.

Lucas' 1983 budget totals

$208,904, and he told the finance committee he planned to bring more than $300,000 into the county's general fund before the fiscal year ends Nov. 30. He said the revenue his department generates should be used to keep up his office's level of service, instead of going to other general fund departments.

"The people who use this office pay for a service," Lucas said. "The majority of the money (generated by his office) should be used for this office."

"When you hamstring an office at the point where his office can't give people the prompt and courteous service they're entitled to, that's unfair."

The recorder of deeds' office, like all other county departments, received a lower budget this year than in fiscal year 1982 because of dwindling county revenues. However, the county also agreed to salary increases with its three employee unions, which has further squeezed departmental budgets.

Lucas said his budget has been trimmed as far as possible.

"It would be different if this office had a lot of fat in its budget," Lucas said. "But our salaries and expenditures. There is no fat in the budget."

Ambulance funds OK'd; staff reshuffle begins

When Joe Holder, Granite City's new assistant fire chief, takes office Aug. 2, the fire department will have operated under four different assistant fire chiefs in the past 10 weeks.

The planned staff reshuffle reflects the city's fight to save its ambulance service in the face of dwindling revenues.

The ambulance service has been the victim this year of both reduced calls and the city's efforts to keep property taxes down. As a saving effort, Mayor Paul Schuler is encouraging the retirement of higher paid firefighters to be replaced by ambulance service technicians, who will receive lower probationary firefighter wages. Some of those resulting ambulance vacancies are not expected to be filled.

The hoped-for effect is a partial consolidation of fire and ambulance departments, which could cut into an anticipated $350,000 deficit expected at the end of the current fiscal year.

Last week, the ambulance department just squeezed by a budget amendment that would have disbanded the ambulance service was approved by Oct. 1. The close 8-4 vote to keep the department prompted a letter of support from the police union members. The letter was received by the council Tuesday.

Aldermen also gave the ambulance service an increased measure of support at Tuesday night's council session by approving the $494,551 ambulance budget. The budget vote was taken after Mayor Schuler pulled projected 1983 ambulance deficits from the city's tentative levy in order to minimize the effect of the ambulance deficit on the levy.

Some residents protesting a higher tax levy pointed to the ambulance department as one means to economize city finances.

Mayor Schuler said the position of assistant fire chief was used as an early retirement enticement that offered a chance for increased retirement benefits to those considering retirement.

Following the resignation of assistant chief George Smolich, who had held the position for several years, the job was held in rapid succession by Ed McGovern and Robert Sanders.

McGovern was appointed June 15 and retired July 15. Sanders was appointed July 20 and retired July 31. Tuesday, the council approved the holder as the city's newest fire assistant chief. He is not expected to retire as soon as his two predecessors.

One city emergency medical technician (EMT) has already been appointed to replace the first department vacancy left by one of the two retired assistant chiefs. A second EMT is expected to be hired shortly as a firefighter.

Mayor Schuler said Fire Chief Donald Pante has requested that the council fill only one of vacancies in the ambulance service created by the transfer of the two assistants to the fire department.

Vandals shatter Grigsby skylights

Twelve skylights were shattered on the roof of Grigsby Junior High School, plus other vandalism occurred in the building, it was discovered by a custodian Monday.

Those responsible apparently climbed onto the roof on the south side of the building, then broke a skylight above Room 201, climbing inside the school after lowering a homemade rope ladder.

Paint, glue, printer's ink and other substances were thrown over the walls and floors, reports said.

A can of paint also had been hurled through an office window and yellow paint was smeared on the school's exterior walls, the custodian advised.

Many license plates to expire on July 31

Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar is reminding motorists that midnight Sunday, July 31, is the deadline for car owners with license plate registrations expiring in July to display the purple 1984 stickers in the upper right corner of their rear license plates.

"Approximately 562,000 renewal applications have been mailed to registered owners who are currently displaying the orange 1983 stickers that expire in July," Edgar said.

Stickers may be purchased at more than 1,400 financial institutions, including 617 banks, 180 savings and loan associations, 16 credit unions and about 600 Chicago area currency exchanges.

Effective August 1, anyone driving a car with an expired orange July, 1983, sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

$4.6 billion highway plan

By TORI WHITEHEAD

A five-year, $4.6 billion state highway improvement program, which will include more than $480 million in expenditures and create about 16,000 jobs in the Metro-East area, was unveiled Wednesday.

Illinois Transportation Secretary John Kramer said at a press conference that more than 4,200 miles of roads and more than 900 bridges will be repaired statewide.

The program, involving the expenditure of $225 million annually statewide, will be financed through increases passed last month in state gas taxes and license plate fees.

In addition, the program will utilize about $3 billion in federal money over the five-year period.

According to Kramer, motor fuel taxes distributed to local taxing bodies will increase by an average of 38 percent during the life of the program, which will mean an additional $28.4 million to District Eight.

The plan will mean 347 miles of resurfacing and widening and 38 bridge repairs and replacements in District Eight alone.

The program includes more than 125 individual projects in Madison County and almost as many in St. Clair County.

The first year of the program calls for repair and rehabilitation work worth more than $1 billion, according to Governor Jim Thompson. Of that, $612 million is from federal funds, with the balance in state and local funds.

Kramer said he expects to have 2,600 miles of roads repaired or under construction within 15 months.

Among local projects tentatively scheduled between fiscal 1984 and 1988 are:

- Completion of I-255 from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge to I-270 in Edwardsville at an estimated cost of $75 million. The total for fiscal '84 for I-255 will be a minimum of $34 million.
- The state hopes to open the section of I-270 from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge to Route 15 in late 1984. The section from I-64 to I-55-70 will be opened in the winter of 1987, the controversial 5.5-mile section from I-55-70 to I-270 in the winter of 1989, and the eastbound Jefferson Barracks Bridge in the winter of 1991.

The schedule could be significantly advanced if more money is received, according to IDOT.

Resurfacing of nine miles of I-55-70 from the Poplar Street Bridge to Canteen Creek near Black Lane at an estimated cost of $7.4 million in fiscal years 1985-88.

Resurfacing three miles of I-270 from Route 111 to the Chain of Rocks Canal bridge. The project is estimated to cost $2.1 million in fiscal '84.

The adjoining one-mile section from the Mississippi River bridge to the canal bridge is scheduled for fiscal '85-'86 at an estimated cost of $940,000.

Kramer called the program the best economic news for this area in many years, adding that, once completed, the program will make Illinois' highway system of the best in the country.

Sales tax suit names Miller and Skinner

Arthur E. Miller Jr. and Eugene K. Skinner, as its president, and the former Miller Excavating Co. are defendants in a sales tax suit filed Tuesday at the Madison County Circuit Court.

The Illinois Department of Revenue seeks $13,400 from the officers of the firm, which was accused of "laundering" some of the funds looked from the Six & Co. stock brokerage.

The debt is listed as $6,401, plus penalties and interest. The amount is increasing by $120 a month at 9 percent interest.

The brokerage was dissolved in November 1981. Thomas Brimberry and Skinner were among those convicted of crimes related to Six & Co. and Miller was among those who pleaded guilty to federal charges in the case. Brimberry faces another trial Aug. 8 in St. Louis.

Miller, brother of Brimberry's wife, let Brimberry use his name to set up the excavating firm here. Skinner, Brimberry's accountant, later headed the excavating company.

The state alleges the firm failed to file sales tax returns and make payments from August 1975 to July 1977 and from February 1981 to August 1981, and that Skinner and Miller remain responsible for the payments. They are free on bond.

A hearing on the suit is set for 3:30 p.m. Sept. 6 in East Alton.

The groom was graduated from Granite City High School South in 1973, and from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1977. He works as a commercial insurance underwriter for Transprotection Service Co.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Branson, Mo.

Venice signs cable franchise, again

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record

In the on-and-off again saga of acquiring a cable television system for the community, the Venice City Council once more awarded a cable franchising contract at Tuesday night's meeting.

The new franchise went to Sun Cable System of the CATV System and Associates Co. of Tallahassee, Fla., virtually by default, when Cybernetic Communications of Oklahoma City, which previously received the franchise, failed to communicate with city officials.

Doyle J. Dugans Sr., franchising manager for CATV and Sun Cable, was granted the franchise Tuesday night.

Dugans was part of the original group which first approached the council and was granted a non-exclusive franchise in Aug. 24, 1982, at which time it was claimed the system would be operational by early spring.

But the agreement failed to produce a cable TV system and, for a period of time, the Venice aldermen and Mayor Tyrone Echols lost sight of Dugans, who was having financial trouble with his New York partners.

Dugans surfaced, however, last April with a new partner, Greg Bucy of Oklahoma City, president of Cybernetic Communications (CyCom), with both men seeking the franchise in a joint venture.

This partnership subsequently dissolved and at the May 3 meeting, Bucy and Dugans sought the franchise separately.

A representative of another cable TV firm later made a presentation to the council, but Bucy's company eventually received the franchise to construct and install cable service in the community.

Bucy, however, also was communicating for some weeks following his appearance before the council and then receiving the franchise in early June, according to earlier reports from Mayor Echols and City Attorney Lawrence Hartman.

Bucy was contacted by the attorney last week and was to be in communication or to return some completed documents prior to Tuesday's meeting, the mayor advised.

This Bucy failed to do, Mayor Echols said at Tuesday night's session when Dugans again addressed the Venice aldermen seeking the franchise.

This time, however, the CATV franchising manager gave the city council a $10,000 check as a performance guarantee, in lieu of a $15,000 performance bond, a requirement of the ordinance, but one which had not been met in earlier dealings with cable companies.

After Mayor Echols reported contacting a Nashville firm that certified financial details were accurate, a new ordinance, prepared in advance by the attorney, was signed Tuesday night.

The only council member dissenting was First Ward Alderman Phil Daniels.

All details included in the agreement remain the same as previously published in the original contract, including the city receiving five percent of the gross revenue, it approved by the Federal Communications Commission. The cable system is to be completed within a 90-day period after construction begins.

The only inconclusive point still left undecided is whether the cable system will be installed underground.

"I still believe we will go underground, but this may change for some reason or another. You don't have to wait for the power company to give permission to use the poles if you go underground," Dugans said.

Dugans also explained the system of installing cable TV underground by using small pedestals in alleyways or other unobtrusive locations as the means of leading the cable into dwellings.

Some questions were raised by the aldermen concerning the location of pedestals, which have caused some concern in other areas, especially if persons wanting cable TV do not own their own home.

Dugans said the cost of installing cable by the underground method costs about $7,000 per mile, a much higher cost than stringing wires above ground. But he noted, there is less upkeep with an underground system, which is secure against such hazards as ice storms and lightning.

"In some areas the system may not be completely underground, I won't really know this until the contractor comes back and looks everything over again," Dugans said. He also noted that the necessary construction equipment still is located in the Belleville area.

Truancy law gets nod

The Granite City Council approved Tuesday night a city truancy law intended to crack down on violators that may have been able to slip through similar state laws.

The new ordinance is expected to be effective before the start of school Aug. 22. The law imposes daily fines ranging from $25 to $500 on adults who allow their children, to miss school and others who shelter truant students.

The law also applies to those who employ school children during school sessions, unless under an approved work-study program.

Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, assistant principal at Granite City High School, brought the ordinance before the council several weeks ago. The Granite City school board previously recommended the locally-controlled truancy law.

In the past, truancy violators were prosecuted by the Madison County state's attorney's staff. Schuman said he called the law into effect because of the low priority placed on truancy cases by the county.

City attorneys will prosecute offenders under the new ordinance and Schuman is optimistic that swift prosecution at the start of school will discourage many potential truants.

The law applies to adults sheltering children between the ages of 7 and 16. The law also affects children younger than 7 and older than 16, if they are attending grades 1-12.

The law does not apply to students enrolled in private school, those deemed physically or mentally unable to attend school or those attending approved confirmation classes.

Pregnancy and motherhood will not exempt women from attending school, unless there are complications verified by a physician.

MAN INJURED IN TAVERN INCIDENT

Responding to an alleged fight during the weekend at the Tip Top Tavern, 1746 State St., officers found Dane Chastain, 1908 Sken St., Madison, near the south side of the building, bleeding profusely from near his left eye.

Chastain said he was struck in the face by a man using a beer mug. A suspect was taken into custody, but later was released pending further investigation into the case.

Hunting dates, limits similar to last year

Illinois hunters can expect hunting seasons and bag limits that closely parallel those established for the game species last year, according to Glenn Harper, associate director, Department of Conservation Bureau of Natural Resources.

A squirrel season that opens Aug. 1 in the southern zone and Sept. 1 in the northern zone will inaugurate the 1983 hunting season, followed by early migratory bird seasons for dove, rail, woodcock, snipe and teal.

Upland game hunters can again expect an eight-week hunting season for rabbit, quail, pheasant and Hungarian partridge, with bag limits the same as last year's.

"Season dates for all Illinois game species are based on voluminous field research, including population surveys, hunter harvest rates and habitat evaluation for the various species," Harper said.

"The season lengths and bag limits for most species have not changed significantly for several years, even though we've seen some improvement in some species' populations."

"Population levels for the cottontail rabbit, for example, appear to be about 22 percent this year. Still, rabbits are down 70 to 80 percent from what they were 20 years ago. The improvement in their population levels is not great enough to warrant a longer season or more liberal bag limits."

The squirrel season that traditionally opens the Illinois hunting dates will begin Aug. 1 in the southern zone and Sept. 1 in the northern zone. The season ends Nov. 15 throughout the state. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset, with a daily bag limit of five and a possession limit of 10.

The north and south squirrel hunting zones are separated by a Z-shaped line which follows Illinois Route 36 westward from the Indiana border to Springfield, swings northward along Illinois Route 29 to Pekin and goes west along Illinois Route 9 to Dallas City at the Mississippi River.

Hunters of upland game will again have eight weeks to hunt rabbit, quail, cock pheasant and Hungarian partridge. The season will begin Nov. 5 and continue through Jan. 1, with shooting hours from sunrise to sunset. Harper said the season is extended through New Year's Day, as it was last year, to enable hunters to take advantage of the holiday.

Bag and possession limits for upland game will be the same as for 1982. Rabbit hunters may take four cottontails daily and be in possession of eight. A bag limit of six and a possession limit of 12 will be imposed for quail, and for cock pheasant and Hungarian partridge the daily bag limit is two, with a possession limit of four.

Regarding the migratory bird seasons, a 60-day season for hunting mourning doves will begin Sept. 1 and end Oct. 30. Shooting hours will be from noon to sunset, and hunters may bag 15 birds daily and be in possession of 30.

The dove season is subject to U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service regulatory frameworks that are yet to be established. However, DOW's proposed dove season does not differ significantly from last year's season, which ran from Sept. 1 through Oct. 15. And DOW does not anticipate any conflict between the dove season proposal and the USFWS frameworks.

Seasons and bag limits for rail, woodcock, snipe and teal also are subject to USFWS approval, Harper said. But the seasons proposed for 1983 do not differ significantly from those set for 1982, and the 1983 proposal is expected to be within USFWS plans.

A special nine-day teal season is to begin Sept. 10 and continue through Sept. 18 with shooting hours from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hunters will be restricted to a bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight.

Hunters may take rail from sunrise to sunset Sept. 1 through Nov. 3, with both a daily bag and possession limit of 25. The season for woodcock will be from Oct. 1 through Dec. 4 with shooting hours from sunrise to sunset, a bag limit of five and a possession limit of 10.

Snipe can be taken from sunrise to sunset Sept. 10 through Dec. 25, with a bag limit of eight and a possession limit of 16.

Seasons for taking Illinois furbearers will remain unchanged from last year. As with upland game, population fluctuations have been too small to warrant changing regulations for this fall, Harper said.

Furbearer hunters may take raccoon and opossum from sunrise Nov. 15 until sunset Jan. 13 in the northern zone and from sunrise Nov. 25 until sunset Jan. 23 in the southern zone. The dividing line between the zones is U.S. Route 36.

Red fox and grey fox may be hunted from sunrise Nov. 30 until sunset Jan. 31 statewide. Hunters may take coyote and skunk year-round.

Trapping for coyote is limited by a season beginning at sunrise Nov. 30 and continuing until sunset Dec. 29. Coyote trapping is restricted to avoid non-target trapping of red and grey fox. The trapping season for red and grey fox also runs from sunrise Nov. 30 until sunset Dec. 29.

Muskrat, mink, opossum, skunk, weasel, and raccoon may be trapped from sunrise Nov. 15 until sunset Dec. 29 in the northern zone, and from sunrise Nov. 25 to sunset Jan. 8 in the southern zone. Beaver trapping also is governed by zones, with the northern season beginning at sunrise Nov. 15 and the southern season at sunrise

Nov. 25. This season ends statewide at sunset Feb. 28.

In those portions to Jo Daviess, Carroll, Whiteale and Rock Island counties lying west of Illinois Route 84 and U.S. Route 20, from Interstate 80 north to the Wisconsin line, beaver may be trapped only from Nov. 15 to Dec. 29.

Dates for hunting migratory waterfowl will not be set until later this summer when the USFWS announces regulations for waterfowl hunting nationwide.

Hunters in Illinois must have a valid hunting license or combined sportsman's license in their possession while in the field, unless they are exempt by law from the licensing requirement.

All hunters 21 years old or older must have a current firearm owner's identification (FOID) card to legally carry a gun in the field.

Persons under 21 must either have a FOID of their own or hunt exclusively in the company of an adult who possesses one.

Citizens' group seeks better understanding of tax bodies

The formation of the Granite City Citizens Forum was announced by Don Conley at last week's Granite City Council public hearing. Conley made the announcement while addressing the city council at the Granite City Township hall.

It also was stated that the group's first organizational and get acquainted meeting will be Monday, Aug. 8, at 7 p.m. in the Wiseman Room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"The purpose of the GCCF is to establish a viable, cooperative forum for the citizens of Granite City to exchange their ideas, complaints, etc., and to set up an involvement group to improve communications between the citizens and all local taxing bodies," Conley explained. These taxing bodies include: Granite City Community School District, the city of Granite City, the Madison County treasurer, Metro-East Sanitary District, Granite City Park District, Granite City Township and Belleville Area College District 522.

"Making Granite City a better place to live, educate our children and to work is a goal the GCCF, which hopes to achieve these through citizens awareness and involvement," Conley added.

Residents interested in obtaining further information concerning this organization are being asked to call Conley at 931-1188 or to attend GCCF's first public meeting Aug. 8.

The GCCF, although a non-political group, plans an ongoing voters' registration drive, Conley noted.

Stress tillage for conservation

Demonstration of conservation tillage practices will highlight a series of Soil Conservation Service field events held across the state during August, including Aug. 24 at Jerseyville and Aug. 29 at Carlinville.

Illinois is one of the most eroding states in the nation, according to the SCS, much top soil is being lost from cropland. By encouraging farmers to leave more crop residue on the soil surface, the SCS and various agribusinesses are acting to help slow the erosion process.

Each SCS meeting will deal with the finer points of conservation tillage and how these practices not only save the farmer's soil but also his money, time and equipment. Farmers may contact the SCS toll-free at 1-800-325-1125.

Governor addresses 79 new state prison guards

Governor James R. Thompson stressed the continued need for well-trained staff in the state's penal system during graduation ceremonies for 79 Department of Corrections correctional officers late last week.

"The events of the past several weeks have sharply illustrated the need for a corrections system that can adequately, humanely and safely house criminals, and one that is run by professionals dedicated to meet the challenges that face them," said the Governor.

"You begin your careers at a time when state and local law enforcement officers are working together to keep criminals behind bars where they belong, and you start your jobs during a period that is stretching the resources of the state's prison system," the Governor told the cadets.

"But just as important, you complete your training on a day that marks the five-year anniversary of the riots at the Pontiac Prison where three correctional officers were killed during a disturbance we hope will never be repeated," he said before a minute of silence for the slain guards.

The 79 cadets, who reported for work at prisons across the state Monday morning, underwent a five-week training program that included one week of firearms instruction. The other four weeks were spent covering two dozen areas of corrections work, such as experience at a maximum-security institution, classroom and other topics.

The governor said that 88 more cadets will join the class when they finish their training next month and that most will be placed in new prisons in Illinois, such as the Dixon, Sheridan and East Moline facilities.

ARREST VENICE YOUTH

After missing a $9 shirt from a rack at P.N. Hirsch store, 1327 Nineteenth St., during the weekend, an employee alleged seeing one youth outside the store hand the shirt to another youth who was trying to put it into a shopping bag. Both youths ran and the one who allegedly took the shirt, a 15-year-old Venice boy, was caught by the employee not far from the store. Charged with misdemeanor theft, he was released to his mother on notice to appear for a hearing.

AUTO BURGLARY

A rug shampooer worth $60 and an AM-FM stereo radio valued at $70 were stolen during the weekend from the auto of Rory Travis, 3910 Kirkpatrick Homes, while the vehicle was in a parking lot in the 4200 block of the housing complex.

Air Products 3rd quarter up

Air Products and Chemicals Inc. reported that sales for its third fiscal quarter ended June 30 were $416 million and earnings were $27.1 million, or 88 cents a share. Sales for the same period last year were $381 million and earnings were $14.9 million, or 51 cents a share, after a 33-cent share charge due to a plant write-off.

Nine month earnings were $79.6 million, equivalent to $2.61 a share. This compares to $78.7 million, or $2.75 a share for the first nine months of fiscal 1982. Corresponding sales of $1.2 billion were slightly above the nine-month period last year.

Air Products Chairman Edward Donley said growth of the company's United States tonnage and merchant industrial gas businesses, coupled with greater operating efficiencies, contributed to an increase in domestic industrial gas profits over last year's third quarter. He added that these gains were offset by profit declines in the company's Latin American and European industrial gas operations — primarily due to reduced profit margins.

Donley said the company's chemicals business had another good quarter. "Shipments of polymer chemicals were strong but, as expected, sales of our agricultural chemicals were adversely affected by the federal government's payment-in-kind program. Improvement in the polyvinyl chloride resin business also helped boost profits during the quarter."

Turning to Air Products' industrial process equipment and engineering services businesses, Donley said the low level of capital spending by industry continued to depress current profitability in both areas. "As economies world wide improve and investment in new plant and equipment picks up, we expect these businesses will again contribute to our earnings growth."

He added, "Despite our optimism that the recovery now under way in the United States will continue, we are keeping a tight rein on costs. We are meeting our ambitious productivity improvement goals and are continuing to emphasize the long-term importance of productivity improvement."

STEAL WEAPONS

In a weekend burglary at the home of George Yurek, 3117 Jull Ave., the intruders stole a 9mm semi-automatic pistol with a loaded clip, valued at $275, a .25-caliber blue-steel handgun worth $200 and a .22 Luger handgun, also valued at $200. The rear door was forced open, breaking the door facing, the homeowner said.

Authorize repair work for Dunbar Center

By PATHAY LUTZ

A bid of $10,000 from Keith Jamison and Sons for resurfacing work at the Dunbar Center, 1817 Madison Ave., was approved by the Madison School Board members last week. The Jamison bid was the lower of two returned bids to replace the brick veneer on the upper story of the building on the Third Street side.

According to Superintendent John Palchiff, the buckling veneer will be replaced with wood paneling made to look like brick, and will be much safer than the veneer has proven to be. "We're concerned with the top story because the veneer is buckling and presents a hazard," Superintendent Palchiff commented. "The wood will be safer and sturdier and will look very nice."

The board stipulated that the resurfacing will be done only if the Economic Opportunity Commission continues to lease the building for at least three to five years. The EOC presently uses Dunbar Center as a community center which houses the Head Start program, a day care program and a senior citizen's center.

According to Superintendent Palchiff, the continuation of EOC's lease would save the board money by allowing the resurfacing work instead of complete demolition. "We looked into the demolition prospects, but the cost was phenomenal," he said. "If they continue to lease from us, we are better off to resurface the top story."

Work presently is being done on the Jackson Street side of the building, where several bricks had fallen. The cost of that project is $8,000.

In other business, board members voiced reservations about cooperating with Madison County officials in the collection of delinquent mobile home taxes in the district. Before voting to table the issue until the next meeting, President Sam Dymas expressed opposition to the methods and procedures allegedly being used by the county to collect those taxes. "I'm against it because of the way they are collecting the taxes," he said. "They aren't bothering to fine the person who didn't pay those taxes, they are going to the present owners and insisting that they pay for someone else's bills. I just don't think that's fair. They are also not using a system whereby they start fining from five years ago to the present, but they are going all the way back to the beginning," he added.

Board members approved the renewal of a two-year contract with SIUE for a Clinical Experiences Program, which allows SIUE students in teacher education, counseling and administration programs to work closely with professionals in their respective fields. The program is required for approved certification by the Illinois State Teachers Certification Board, and the cooperating teachers receive tuition-free waivers from the university.

In a personnel decision, board members rehired Mark Jiles as a half-time science teacher at the high school, and returned Sue Miller as a part-time cook for the Middle School.

Program funded to help the elderly keep cool

Governor James R. Thompson said Friday that the State is taking emergency steps to help low-income elderly victims who suffer medically because of their inability to stay cool.

"In view of relentless high temperatures and humidity in Illinois that are starting to take their toll, I have ordered the appropriate state agencies to offer immediate assistance," said the Governor.

"Specifically, the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs is reallocating $2 million for emergency cooling assistance that had been earmarked to help pay heating bills," said Thompson. The aid is limited to low-income persons with documented medical need, most often the elderly.

The DCCA funds will be distributed to local energy assistance offices that should be contacted by those eligible for the emergency aid.

Thompson said he also has asked the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency to help local communities identify facilities such as schools, recreation facilities and other public places that can be used as "cooling centers" for persons who have no air conditioning, fans or other means of cooling their homes.

Thompson said local energy assistance agencies with access to Community Services Block Grant funds (made available under federal Jobs Bill through DCCA) also could use some of those dollars for cooling projects.

DCCA had originally given local agencies $4.1 million to help pay for utility reconstructions. That program will be increased to $6.1 million and expanded. "Households, of course, can still have their energy sources reconnected," said Thompson. "But now the money also can be used by local agencies to buy fans which is required medical, and utility companies can be paid to prevent disconnections in such households."

Finally, Thompson said, local agencies also will have the flexibility to use part of the new $2 million to help offset costs associated with operating the cooling centers. The Department of Aging also is prepared to help the elderly with heat-related problems. Senior citizens are asked to contact their local senior centers, information and referral centers or area agency of aging for assistance.

Local assistance will be available through the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, 4105 Humbert Road, Alton, Ill. 62002, telephone 1-462-0025.

Soil districts' annual meeting opens Sunday

The annual meeting of the Association of Illinois Soil and Water Conservation Districts is scheduled for July 31 through Aug. 2 at the Holiday Inn East in Springfield, Ill. The meeting will be in concurrence with Illinois Department of Agriculture's Division of Natural Resources Summer Conference.

Speakers on these and other related issues include: Larry Werries, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture; Milton "Bud" Mckelburg, president of the National Association of Conservation Districts; John Campbell, dean of the Issues on the agenda include preservation of prime farmland, current topics on soil erosion and water resources, and districts' role in national soil conservation.

Speakers on these and other related issues include: Larry Werries, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture; Milton "Bud" Mckelburg, president of the National Association of Conservation Districts; John Campbell, dean of the Candidate to try again

Undaunted by past setbacks in her effort to become the local member of Congress, Mrs. Sandra Cimmaco, 31, will try again in 1984.

The candidate for the 21st District Democratic nomination next March is likely to again face Cong. Melvin Price, who was initially elected at the age of 39 while he was in World War II military service in 1941.

Price is in his 20th consecutive two-year term and will seek a 21st term, according to his administrative assistant, William Hart. Filing of petitions of candidacy will begin Dec. 12 and end Dec. 19 in Springfield.

After losing the 1982 primary to Price in the former 22nd District, the Belleville woman formed a third party to gain a place on the November ballot. Price won with 59,500 votes to 46,764 for Republican Robert Gaffner of Greenville and 4,344 for Mrs. Cimmaco.

The new district consists of Madison and Bond counties, most of St. Clair County and parts of Montgomery and Clinton counties.

Blaming her fall '82 defeat on "straight party ticket voting," she said she is getting her campaign off to an early start this year in order to discuss issues with as many voters as possible.

Her six children, ranging in age from 4 to 11 years, are learning about the political process and will help her by "stuffing envelopes." Her husband, Dr. Cesar Cimmaco, is a physician.

While she does not expect to attract official party support, she is hopeful of an upsurge of "grassroots" backing by citizens concerned over unemployment, taxation and the general image of Congressional politics.

A licensed practical nurse, she is striving to receive an associate degree in political science from Belleville Area College in December.
